

WELCOME PACKET

Dear Business Owner,

As your Secretary of State, I am committed to ensuring that starting, managing, and growing a business in Rhode Island is easier than ever. I am confident you will find our Business Services Division offers a wealth of tools and resources to help you keep your business on track. As part of this effort, we have included the following helpful materials in this packet:

- About My Business: Business Snapshot and Annual Task List

This fillable form is an easy way to keep track of important information about your business and reminds you of the actions you must take annually to remain in good standing.

- About My Records: Business and Financial Documents

There are many aspects to starting a business that happen behind the scenes. This resource helps break down important legal and accounting considerations.

- Life of a Rhode Island Business

This infographic lays out the steps you should take to keep your business in compliance with the RI Department of State, the IRS, the RI Division of Taxation, and your local municipality.

- About Employment: Employer Basics

This chart describes the agencies you should contact when you're ready to hire employees and the requirements you must fulfill for each.

- Contact List

This helpful list provides the contact information for state agencies and other business-friendly groups for easy future reference.

In addition to these resources, our RI Business Website (sos.ri.gov/divisions/business-services) is available 24/7 to help you navigate managing and growing your business.

I wish you all the best in your new endeavor.

Sincerely,

Nellie M. Gorbea
Secretary of State

ABOUT MY RECORDS

Business and Financial Documents

Tip

A new corporation has many important things to consider. Don't be afraid to seek professional help!

The documents you file with the RI Department of State effectively create a legal entity separate from the individuals making up your corporation. Those documents do not determine how the business is managed internally or contain financial or ownership information. Your corporation should consider the following important aspects of organizing and running your business.

Organizational and Planning Documents

It is extremely important that your corporation record its own rules, regulations and provisions. To do this, you should create and agree to Bylaws, which are internal documents that determine how the corporation will govern its own operations. A Business Plan is another useful document which will help you stay on the right track. A business plan is typically held internally; however, you may be asked to provide a copy of your business plan to financial institutions if you decide to seek funding.

Recordkeeping

While none of these documents are filed with the RI Department of State or subject to public inspection under normal circumstances, your business is required to keep careful record of the following:

- Financial statements and annual reports showing income, expenses and contributions including a summary of transactions in an accounting journal or ledger for each tax year/accounting period.
- A list of all shareholders, including full names and addresses.
- Copies of the minutes of annual and other special meetings. This may include meetings of the shareholders to amend the Bylaws, make corporate resolutions, or make other important business decisions.
- Keep these records permanently: audit reports, determination letter from the IRS and related correspondence, insurance policy documents, real estate deeds, mortgages, and bills of sale.
- Copies of federal, state and local tax returns.

Financial Accounts

It is vital that corporate funds and personal funds be kept separate. A corporate bank account should never be used to pay personal expenses, and a personal account should never be used to pay corporate expenses, including payroll. When personal and corporate funds mix, the owner of the personal account risks allowing some or all of his or her personal assets to be attached in payment of the business's debts.

Your Brand

Your business is your brand. It is important to ensure that the public sees your corporation as an entity separate from its individual shareholders. If not, you not only risk diluting your brand, shareholders' own personal assets may be at risk as well. If you have a logo, you may also consider filing for a Rhode Island or Federal trademark or service mark to protect its use.

Insurance

There are many reasons a new business may want or need insurance. If you operate a brick and mortar location, for instance, you will need liability insurance to protect your business should an accident happen on the premises. You should consult with an insurance agent to determine the requirements for your specific business and determine what type of coverage is necessary.
